

Chatsworth House

King Richard III Throne Room

The forces of nature that formed Britain's first National Park can be witnessed in the beautiful ridges and dales of Derbyshire's Peak District. Renowned for its inspiring landscapes and stunning manor houses, smooth boulders are stacked against the velvety folds of the hills, and ancient stone villages sit by burbling rivers. This region also has a rich industrial heritage, which is epitomised in the South Yorkshire city of Sheffield. Sheffield is an engaging mix of contemporary attractions, cultural gems and historic architecture.

Lady Bower Reservoir

Newstead Abbey

Founded as a monastic abbey in the late 12th century, Newstead Abbey was converted to a domestic home following the Dissolution of the Monasteries. It is famous for being the former home of English poet, Lord Byron, who lived there between 1808 and 1814. Inside, guests can discover the fascinating history of Newstead Abbey, see Byron's personal items, including furniture, letters, manuscripts and portraits, and explore Victorian room settings, the Gothic Revival Library and the Great Hall.

Lady Bower Reservoir, Eyam & Buxton

A guided scenic day tour includes a visit to the Peak District's biggest expanse of water, the Lady Bower reservoir to enjoy breathtaking views from the shores. From there visit the beautiful, historic village of Eyam located in the Peak District National Park made famous after the Black Death of the 1600s. The thermal spa town of Buxton is the gateway to the region, renowned for its fine Georgian and Victorian architecture. With galleries, gardens, an Edwardian opera house and independent shops, it's also something of a cultural hub.

Chatsworth House

The magnificent Chatsworth House is a palatial home in the heart of the Peak District, which dates back to the 16th century. Today, the lavishly adorned interiors house a significant collection of art and treasures that span more than 4,000 years: from ancient Egyptian sculptures and pieces by Reynolds and Rembrandt, to contemporary portraits by Lucian Freud. Don't miss the incredible gardens—cultivated over centuries, they contain sculptures, a rock garden and a maze.

Sheffield Millennium Gallery

Located in the heart of the city, Sheffield Millennium Gallery displays the best of national and international art & design. The Gallery's collections celebrate the city's metalworking skills, and the incredible artefacts brought to the city by the artist and writer, John Ruskin. The gallery also houses the Guild of St George's unique Ruskin Collection which was established in the 1800s to inspire the people of Sheffield.

Hardwick Hall (NT)

Hardwick Hall is an impressive example of Italian Renaissance architecture surrounded by beautifully cultivated gardens. The hall was created by local businesswoman Bess of Hardwick in the 16th century and preserved by subsequent descendants, the Dukes of Devonshire. A unique collection of the finest 16th and early 17th century needlework, furniture and original portraits are displayed in the richly decorated hall.

Kelham Island Museum

Opened in 1982, Kelham Island Museum stands on a man-made island in one of the city's oldest industrial districts. It houses a series of exhibits and interactive galleries, with objects, pictures and archive material representing Sheffield's industrial history.

King Richard III Visitor Centre

The King Richard III Visitor Centre charts the story of the King's life and death. Here we learn about one of the greatest archaeological detective stories ever told, as we fast forward over 500 years to a car park in Leicester where the long-lost remains of King Richard III are discovered and verified, ending many years of speculation!

Crowne Plaza Royal Victoria, Sheffield

Sheffield's most historic hotel, built in 1862 is a Grade II listed building, conveniently situated in quiet grounds but still within walking distance of the city centre. Newly refurbished, the hotel's well-equipped guest rooms with all modern conveniences provide a relaxing stay for guests. The hotel's elegant Cunningham Restaurant serves breakfast and contemporary British cuisine for dinner. The traditional styled Grand Lounge Bar with an ornate design of chandeliers, pillars and high ceilings is the perfect spot for evening drinks.
